

Research Policies

Category: Academic Number: 1
: University Research
Last Revised: January 17, 2019
Approved by: Academic Council Approved by: Board of Governors limited to the following dignity, respect, fairness, and transparency interactions

standards of conduct that reflect accountability its day-to-day decisions, actions, and which all research

flex outlines the manner

that is not

Policy

The First Nations University of Canada

will read and will be willing to sign the agreement

University of Canada wishes to use that animal for any of its research, whether in its own facilities or in the field. Should the University of Canada start using animals in any of its research, it will obtain a Certificate of Good Animal Practice from the Canadian Council on Animal Care (CCAC) and comply with the CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

CCAC's standards and

